Dear Joe:

Happy New Year and an apology for not having written sooner. I've been working for a newspaper and haven't had too much free time. I won't go into an explanation of how I got a job on a newspaper, but it's interesting work. Actually it fits in rather well with my plans. Remember, I'm still destined to serve two years in the army. I was supposed to report to Texas in March, but I've been able to wrangle a delay until June. Quite frankly, I'd like to get out of the obligation completely; and I intend to try. Enough of me.

What's the latest on FM? I was very pleased to see the article about the station in the New York Times back in late September. I didn't realize, until I got away from the school and the station, how much I would miss it all. I've decided to visit the station in early February. I'll let you know when I and my wife will be coming. I'm anxious to see if any improvements have been made on the operating space of WNYU.

Now that I'm one of the Alumni I'm anxious to do whatever I can to further the cause of the station. I hope we can talk about this when I get to New York next month.

Jim Skorupski recently wrote to me and I'll be dropping him a line tomorrow. I hope to see Jim when I visit.

I'd appreciate being brought up to date on the goings on at the station. Is Luck Robins still there? Who else is on the staff this year? How about dropping me a program schedule.

I'll write again, before long, to let you know exactly when I'll be there. Take care of yourself and keep plugging for F.M. I know it must get frustrating after awhile, but nothing can be gained without a worthwhile effort. Good luck in everything and I'll see you soon.

Sincerely,
Paul
